SEQUEL TO THE EXTRADITION CASE.

After the adjournment to-day, Mr. Melby gave evidence, with a view, to elucidating the argument surrounding the page in the coffin book, which was supposed to bear a reference to the purchase of a coffin in which to bury the alleged murdered cook.

Criticising Mr. Melby's evidence, Mr. Jenkin said that on the three occasions Mr. Melby had been in the box he seemed to be in three different states of mind.

Looking at the photograph of the page, counsel said it seemed to have had a rough time of it. It had been fixed on a board with the aid of nails, bradnails and pins and seemed to have been mortally wounded.

The Puisne Judge: It does not look comfortable.

Mr. Potter: The T.T. was also crucified; there were two crucifixions.

Mr. Jenkin went on to point out that a crease in the book could thus be easily made.

The case was adjourned.

A general free fight occurred in Podder Street this morning between ricksha and chair coolies, following the capture of one coolie who, having been chased by others from the front, called to his clansmen for help. Keen trade rivalry was presumably at the bottom of the trouble, which quietened down with the appearance of the police and the arrest of two or three of the ringleaders.

BRITISH TRADE IN CHINA.

REUTERS' brief summary of the address delivered by Mr. Perry-Ainscough to the Far Eastern section of the London Chamber of Commerce makes it abundantly clear that the address in toto will be very well worthy of the serious consideration of all interested in British trade in China, when, in the course of time, we in this part of the world have an opportunity of reading it. Mr. Perry-Ainscough, who is well-known in the Far East as collaborator in a book entitled "China and the Mongols" and because of his long connection with the Chinese Maritime Customs—the Postal Department chiefly—is very well-qualified to speak on the subject dealt with, particularly after having undertaken a mission of investigation in the interior of China on behalf of the Board of Trade. From the telegraphic summary, we learn that Mr. Perry-Ainscough states that if we are to compete successfully with German methods there must be closer co-operation between British officials, manufacturers, merchants, and the "financial interests." There can be no doubt that the ties, such as they are—and in our opinion they have long been much too lax—between these bodies must be, as Mr. Perry-Ainscough says much more closely drawn; that there must be much more systematic organisation and directness of aim than at present if we are to attain the commercial position in this part of the world to which our past sacrifices and efforts, despite our somewhat lackadaisical methods, entitles us. The reference to "British officials" we take it, alludes principally to the Consular body, which, rightly or wrongly, is generally believed, and openly stated to be, occasionally lax in the performance of what merchants believe to be at least part of their legitimate duties. There seems to be some grounds for the complaint; and Consular bodies will therefore do well to pay heed to it, and do all in their power to facilitate the commercial dealings of British merchants in China. Mr. Perry-Ainscough does well to call attention to the fact that greater facilities are required from banks and financial institutions generally. The banks should lead and not prove the laggard in such matters, and it will be not only much to the advantage of British merchants in this part of the world but to all concerned, directly or indirectly, that bankers should so arrange matters that they will be able to offer much better facilities to merchants than merchants have been able to obtain from them in the past. The functions both of the Consular body and of bankers are very much curtailed if they do not in every way work for the furtherance of merchants "on the spot." It is to the interests of all that they should do so; more especially as it is quite certain that the close of the war will introduce more keenly competitive and, doubtless, more thoroughly unscrupulous methods on the part of the Teutonic merchants, against whom Mr. Perry-Ainscough specially warns British merchants to beware. The Germans before the war added to a wholehearted support from their financial concerns and from their Consular officials more systematic methods with regard to the potentialities of commerce in China; the consequence being that our merchants let slip many opportunities that might easily have been theirs.

Our experience convinces us that the Chinese would sooner do business with the British merchant than with the German, and they are well-aware of the superiority of British commodities. If our merchants would but meet the Chinese more in accordance with the Chinese idea of credit, good results all-round would accrue. In this matter the assistance of the banks and better facilities than they at present offer would of necessity play an important part. We cordially endorse Mr. Perry-Ainscough's views regarding the necessity for British merchants becoming much more familiar with the Chinese language and with the business methods of China generally. There has always been too much dependence on the compradore and there always will be so long as the present indifference towards the Chinese language prevails. Merchants' assistants could, before coming East and while here, acquire a considerable amount of valuable knowledge regarding the Chinese language and Chinese business methods if they set about doing so seriously and were encouraged to do so by their employers or prospective employers.

There need be no doubt about the strenuous times that are before us, and if our merchants are to participate to the extent that their long connection with China entitles them in the rich harvest that must follow on the opening up of China on systematic lines, they will do well so to arrange matters that the excellent advice that Mr. Perry-Ainscough offers will not go unheeded. We are not unaware that our merchants are quite alive to the fact that the new conditions will require fresh organisation in many directions, but it is, nevertheless, on quite sound lines that they should give serious heed to what is recommended by one who has investigated the conditions of affairs out here on behalf of the Board of Trade and who is well-qualified to point out what may reasonably be expected from the new order of things that is certain to spring into existence with the close of the war.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

Dr. Neville Bradley wishes to acknowledge with grateful thanks the various sums remitted him through the C.M.S.' Office Hongkong, from the congregations at St. John's Cathedral, St. Andrew's, Kowloon, St. Peter's, and students at St. John's Hall, for the work of the Hospitals under his charge at Peking and district.

We inadvertently stated in our Saturday's issue that during the Police Reserve Parade, the Orchestra, under Mr. Gozzales played on the Parade Ground. It was the Police Reserve Band that attended and marched with the force, under the leadership of Bandmaster J. de Costa. The Police Reserve Band we learn have been provided with new instruments ordered from Manila, and we understand the number of bandmen will be increased, as some new members are now in training.

The total number of deaths from plague among the Chinese, for the year, inclusive of one fatal outbreak last week, is 189. The number of cases notified during the same period is 143. During last week there were two fatal Chinese cases of diphtheria. No less than seven outbreaks of enteric fever occurred, three ending fatally and involving one Portuguese, one Indian, one Japanese, one British and three Chinese.

CHAMBERLAIN'S COUGH REMEDY.

WHEN you have a bad cold you want a remedy that will not only give relief, but effect a prompt and permanent cure, a remedy that is pleasant to take, a remedy that contains nothing injurious. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy meets all these requirements. It acts on nature's plan, relieves the lungs, aids expectoration, opens the secretions and restores the system to a healthy condition. This remedy has a world wide sale and use, and can always be depended upon. For sale by all Chemists and Storekeepers.

TO-DAY'S POLICE COURT CASES.

Revenue Officer Macmillan charged two Chinese before Mr. Hazell at the Police Court this morning with unlawfully having in their possession 30 tael of prepared opium, contained in small tins, which they were seen bringing off the launch "Lee Yung."

The first defendant was fined $2,000 or four months, and the second $1,000 or three months.

The Chief Officer of the "Hatching," giving evidence in a showy case in Mr. Hazell's court this morning, said there were many ordinary cases of showing away, but they were bringing the present defendants up because they had showed away in the cargo, where a stray match would be most dangerous. The two defendants were each fined $75 or six weeks' hard labour.

Crown-Sgt. Wong Kwong Tin (Police Reserve) charged seven men before Mr. Hazell at the Magistrate's Court this morning in connection with an opium divan at 1, Triangle Street, which was raided by members of the Police Reserve under his direction at 10 on Saturday. Four pipes were found.

The first defendant (the keeper) was fined $100 or two months, the second was discharged, and the others were each fined $2 or five days.

A Chinese was charged at the Magistrate's Court this morning by Mr. William Fooks, Inspector of Shipwrights, of the Royal Naval Dockyard, with two thefts of Government property, namely of $11 worth of paint from the s.s. Empress of Japan, and of three brass locks, valued at $5, at Wellington Street.

Defendant said he did not steal the paint and brass locks. They were given to him by the No. 1 painter, who told him to take them ashore.

Acting Inspector Brown said the locks were wrapped up in paper and put in the paint.

The No. 1 painter denied giving defendant the paint and locks to take ashore. He gave him one pail of paint with which to paint the steamer. Witness knew nothing about the brass locks.

Defendant was sentenced by Mr. Lindell to a month's imprisonment for stealing the paint; 14 days for stealing one lock, and a further 14 days for possessing two locks reasonably suspected of having been stolen.

Revenue Officer Macmillan charged a Chinese before Mr. Lindell at the Police Court this morning with unlawfully possessing two bottles of whisky, two bottles of brandy, and two bottles of gin.

Defendant was found conveying the spirits in a basket. Revenue Officer Macmillan stated that it was the custom for the revenue officers to search Chinese passengers with luggage wherever they might be. If the defendant would say where the stuff was bought he would be satisfied, but the defendant had said he could not do this.

Defendant said the spirits were given to him by a friend as a present. He did not know where they came from nor where his friend was.

The case was adjourned.

Alfred Alison was fined $5 by Mr. Lindell this morning for being drunk and disorderly in Pedder Street.

Manuel Sequeira, a Mexican, was before Mr. Lindell at the Police Court this morning on a charge of unlawfully absenting himself from the House of Detention.

Defendant said he was absent because he went to the Talkoo Docks and obtained employment. He sent a letter to the gaol about it.

Mr. Lindell: You are an old inhabitant of the House of Detention and you know quite well that you have to obtain permission from the superintendent before you can be allowed out. You cannot quietly write a letter. You know quite well it is not enough to write a letter and say you are not coming back.

Defendant: I told him I had got a job. His Worship: That is not enough. You have to get permission before you can be allowed out.

Defendant: I did not know that. His Worship: Of course you did. Defendant, who had spent two nights in the cells, was discharged with a caution.

The case of manslaughter against a coolie in connection with the death of Miss Pereira, who was killed at Kowloon recently by being run over by a truck drawn, it is alleged, by defendant and other coolies, was further investigated by Mr. Lindell at the Magistrate's Court this afternoon.

Mr. A. J. Mackie, recalled, said the number of the truck was 264. The truck ropes were not entangled with the deceased.

The ambulator of the truck, said the defendant, was one of his folk and had worked for him for six or seven months. On November 10th he was at work trucking earth but witness did not know the number of the truck with which defendant was working. He had separate gangs for this truck but the coolies might draw different trucks.

EARLY COLDS.

BE careful of the colds you take at this time of the year. They are particularly dangerous. A nag-cold, cold, or a winter-long cold. Take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, at once. For sale by all Chemists and Storekeepers.

SEQUEL TO THE EXTRA-DITION PROCEEDINGS.

THE QUESTION OF THE MAGISTRATE'S JUDGMENT.

The hearing of the application of Hung Shiu Lung, a fugitive, under a writ of Habeas Corpus, for his release from the Victoria Gaol where he alleges he is being detained illegally on a Magistrate's order, was resumed in the Full Court this morning, before the Chief Justice Sir Wm. Roes Davies and Mr. E. H. J. Gomperts, the Puisne Judge.

The Attorney General (Mr. J. H. Kemp) Mr. Sharp K.C., and Mr. P. C. Jenkin (instructed by Mr. G. E. Hall Rotton), Crown Solicitor, represented the Government and the fugitive is represented by Mr. Eldon Foster (instructed by Mr. G. E. Hall Rotton). Mr. Sharp dwelt on the peculiar position arising from the Magistrate's Court, by siding to his written judgment at the request of Counsel for the fugitive at a hearing when the Crown was unfortunately not represented. Mr. Sharp pointed out that no affidavit had been filed by Mr. Bruton, the effect of which he (Counsel) did not know, but to affect the judgment in some way. The affidavit, Counsel thought, was going to send the interests of justice. The Chief Justice said that the Magistrate had been in the Colony he would certainly have asked him what did take place and his Lordship would have been justified in doing that same as the Appeal Court questioned the justice below.

Answering Mr. Puisne Judge, Mr. Sharp said the Crown were of the opinion that Mr. Bruton's affidavit should not be there.

There was no ambiguity in the Magistrate's judgment said the Chief Justice. The Magistrate, as Mr. Foster had observed, had amplified his judgment in terms Counsel had asked.

The Puisne Judge said he never thought the judgment was ambiguous, and his Lordship added, that he followed the learned Chief Justice, that unless there was absolute agreement as to the whole of the case in what was said, they should not consider in any way what had fallen from the Magistrate, in view of the fact that he was asked by Counsel to alter his judgment, and did alter it.

Mr. Foster said Mr. Bruton's affidavit was filed to bring clearly home to the Puisne Judge, the contention for his defence, that the Magistrate gave his judgment on facts and applied to both branches of the judgment. The second point he thought was clear—that the Magistrate committed, although he did not believe in the man's guilt himself, merely because somebody else might. It was over meant to contend that a coolie in the street might commit, he was guilty but a competent tribunal.

The Chief Justice stated he did not think the affidavit, and that filed by Mr. Lindell for the Crown, should go in.

Counsel for the fugitive then went on to reply to the arguments of Counsel for the Crown.

(Case proceeding.)

RACING IN SHANGHAI.

INTERNATIONAL RECREATION CLUB.

The following were the results in the last Shanghai race on Saturday, received too late for publication by our issue of this evening, says the "Shanghai Mercury" of November 22. The meeting was marred somewhat by the nasty accident to Hill on Jupiter in the sixth race.

Consolation was diagnosed after an examination but later it was ascertained that the jockey had sustained consciousness and was improving.

B TELEGRAPH.

THE WAR.

THE KAISER'S THEATRICAL APPEARANCE ON THE EASTERN FRONT.

FRICTION BETWEEN GERMANY AND ROUMANIA.

THE STATE OF AFFAIRS IN PERSIA.

(Reuters' Service to the China Mail.)

THE KAISER'S THEATRICAL APPEARANCE ON THE EASTERN FRONT.

LONDON, Nov. 28.

A telegram from Petrograd says that the Kaiser, on learning of the privations of the Germans in Russia from cold and exhaustion, appeared theatrically on the Eastern Front. In an impassioned speech he urged the troops to patience. He said "Make one or two efforts more. I assure you the goal is near at hand. It will recompense you for all I believe me my children and my friends, you who are my glory. I know you are fatigued. We believed in a war of a few months, but it has been prolonged. We must continue the campaign with ferocious energy, opposing the iron glove to the paw of the Russian bear."

FRICTION BETWEEN GERMANS AND BULGARIANS.

LONDON, Nov. 28.

Friction is reported between the Germans and the Bulgarians over the subject of the occupation of Monastir.

LATEST NEWS FROM PERSIA.

PETROGRAD, Nov. 28.

A Teheran telegram says the Shah, at an audience with the Russian Minister, assured him that the removal of his (the Shah's) intention to leave the capital was based solely on the announcement that he was going to his country residence.

He added that he had not sought to minimise the gravity of the situation in Persia owing to the provocative attitude of the enemies of the Entente, but there was reason to believe that the malicious gendarmes would surrender.

It is announced at Petrograd that at Teheran there have been twenty-seven dissensions of Swedish officers from the gendarmery, some for censuring disloyalty with others to the Persian Government. The insurgent gendarmes and mercenaries are occupying Hamadan and the road, fortifying the passes in that direction. The German officers view the covering district adjacent to the Turkish frontier, and a committee at Kum, under the direction of Prince Russ, is maintaining animated relations with Teheran still hoping to influence the Shah and the Government.

It is reported that the Turkish Ambassador and the Austrian Minister are returning to the capital with the same object. The Shah and the Government are fully aware of the danger of any policy not benevolent to Anglo-Russia, but they are unable to ignore the fact that concentrations at Kum and Hamadan include half British. Almost the whole of the Persian armed forces are directed against the Swedish-Turco-German officers, who are doing their utmost to bring about a rupture of the Anglo-Russian-Persian negotiations for the definite creation of a fresh theatre of the War.

A communique significantly adds "In the direction of Teheran there is nothing to report after the arrival of our troops in the towns of Enghel, Imman and Keredj."

NEWS FROM THE WESTERN FRONT.

PARIS, Nov. 28.

A disturbed night at Arras is the feature of the latest communique. There were fierce engagements with grenades and aerial torpedoes, but the violent combat was in the region of the Labyrinth. After the German exploded a mine a struggle resulted in favour of the French. A squadron of our aeroplanes attacked the station at Moyon with huge bombs, and also forced two captive balloons to descend. A French scout aeroplane shot down a German machine on the heights of the Meuse.

An official communique issued at Paris states that the French fighting has been featureless but there have been most active air engagements. A German aeroplane pursued by a French aeroplane fell into the sea off Westende. Boats hurrying to assist the occupiers were attacked by the Allied aeroplanes and artillery. One vessel was sunk.

Many bombs have been dropped on the sheds at East Mulhouse and three aeroplanes were smashed up.

There was a fierce air duel at Nancy. An aviatik was brought down and a second German fled.

TURKS USE POISON GAS.

LONDON, Nov. 28.
The Turks for the first time have used suffocating gas against the British troops, but without result. (Havas Service.)

Nov. 27.
French Stock now stands at 64.50.
Yesterday artillery was very active, especially in Argonne.
To-day westward of Meuse the enemy threw asphyxiating gas, but without attacking.
One enemy's aircraft fell down in the Aisne district.
The Allied Powers have handed a new Note to Greece containing a general account of practical realisations of the recently concluded agreement.
Mr. Gandau, Deputy, has urged the Ministers to take urgent dispositions to allow the population of French Colonies and Protectorates to subscribe to the "Emprunt de la Victoire" as largely as they can, as they have up to now participated in the defence of the territory.

SERBIAN HORRORS.

A Breadless Land.

LONDON, Nov. 27.
Madame Grouitch, the American wife of the Serbian Under Secretary for Foreign Affairs, tells a terrible story of a twenty days horse back trip from Nish with a Government party. There are 3,000,000 starving Serbians, all the horses are short of fodder, and thousands of dogs which were left in the homes have now landed together and are scouring the hillsides for ground-gam. Serbia is a breadless land. The road between Nish and Monastir overruled the Klondike as a trail of horrors. There were corpses on the wayside, dead horses, and exhausted fugitives: men, women and children. "Some of our own horses," stated Madame Grouitch, "fell from exhaustion and died where they fell, and as a Government party, which was likely to be the best equipped of all, we only got half a loaf of bread each daily, during the retreat. Many, however, were quite foodless, and struggled into the villages only to discover that there was nothing edible. The events happening in Serbia to-day form the blackest page in human history. Now there is only open to Serbia, through Albania, one narrow horse trail which itself traverses the "starving districts." One night they heard the screams of a man being murdered by hunger-maddened men, for half a loaf of bread.
The shortage of food in Albania is confirmed by the Belgian Minister to Serbia, who said recently that in Albania, when they gave their servants money, they exclaimed: "For God's sake give us bread, we cannot eat gold." Madame Grouitch, earnestly appeals to Americans to assist Serbia.

FRENCH BOMB BULGARIAN ENCAMPMENTS.

PARIS, Nov. 28.
A communique states, in reference to the Eastern army. Our aeroplanes dropped fifty bombs on the Bulgarian encampments near Strumitza, and also bombarded Istip. Owing to the present position of the Serbian armies, our troops occupying the left bank of the Cerna have withdrawn to the right bank. The movement was effected without difficulty.

THE DARDANELLES.

French Activity.

PARIS, Nov. 28.
A communique dealing with the Dardanelles expedition says:—Our artillery was most active on Wednesday and Thursday, and succeeded in shelling several Turkish heavy guns, causing the enemy's fire to markedly weaken. Numerous Turkish wounded have arrived at Constantinople recently. There were hand grenade actions on Wednesday, and a mine explosion on Thursday destroyed the saps pushed by the enemy towards our centre.

BATTLE FOR BAGDAD.

Has It Already Been Fought?

LONDON, Nov. 27.
Commenting on the battle of Ctesiphon, The Times points out that time after time the Turks in Mesopotamia have suddenly withdrawn under cover of night after stubborn resistance. If they continue to follow the same tactics it is conceivable that the action deciding the fate of Bagdad has already been fought. It is worth noting that from the end of this month facilities for navigation on the Tigris will continue to improve for several months.

Raising of Age Limit Necessitated.

LONDON, Nov. 27.

To meet further losses Germany will be compelled to raise the age limit of those liable for military service above 45. Already a secret circular has been issued, instructing the authorities to proceed with the registration of men of 46 to 50 years of age.

ARTILLERY ACTIONS.

PARIS, Nov. 28.
A communique states:—There have been lively artillery actions in Belgium, and south of the Somme. Our artillery north of St. Mihiel destroyed a battery. It is ascertained that the enemy's gas attack near Bethincourt ended in complete defeat. Three successive clouds of gas were followed by a violent bombardment by our artillery, which prevented the German attack debouching.

Many Excellent Batting Displays.

Some excellent batting formed a feature of Saturday's match on the H. K. O. C. ground when the Club entertained the K. C. C. A. team. Batting first the Kowloon team put up a consistent resistance to the bowling and runs mounted up fairly rapidly. T. Salton and L. J. Blackburn and their successors provided formidable partnership, no less than two batsmen contributing 23 runs each. Kowloon declared at 204 runs for six wickets. R. Hancock for the Club gave a highly creditable display, mastering the bowling and batting in all directions with complete confidence. Sayer's help was a considerable towards augmenting the score.
